What happens next

Thank you for coming along today to see our developing designs and providing your feedback. We'd like to keep a record of what you've told us today, so if you're happy to fill in a feedback form please do so and leave it with us.

Our next step is to continue developing the designs ahead of submitting the planning application in August. There will be a chance for you to comment on the application online via the Tower Hamlets public access database.

Subject to planning permission being granted, the earliest we expect work to start on site will be early 2027.
